

Rosemary Gallick Biography

Rosemary Gallick is a Professor of Art and Art History at Northern Virginia Community College where she has taught since 1996. She holds a B.A. from the State University of New York in Art and an M.F.A. from Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, New York. In addition, Rosemary Gallick has a Master's degree in Communication from Cornell University, Ithaca, New York. She has published numerous articles, has given various art presentations and has exhibited her artwork throughout the United States and was awarded the 2017 Featured Artist for the Commonwealth of Virginia's Community College Systems!

Creating art since childhood has been an enduring passion. Ms. Gallick has created a series of abstracts, musical themes and portraits that focus on popular icons, ranging from rock and roll musicians, political figures, and other celebrities that dominate popular culture. Gallick's work has featured in Elan magazine (May 2011) and in the Northern Virginia magazine (November 2009). Her paintings were selected for the covers of the Northern Virginia Review (Spring 2011 and 2015). In 2016, Gallick received the "People's Choice" award for her painting called Explosion at the Village Gallery in Fairfax City, VA. She received an Honorable Mention at the US Geological Survey Center in Reston, Virginia. Gallick also received the Outstanding Faculty Award for College and Community Service at Northern Virginia Community College-Manassas campus in 2016. In 2017, Professor Gallick received the Featured Artist Award for the VCCS (Virginia Community College System) and signed posters of her work chosen at the New Horizons Conference in Roanoke, Virginia. Currently, Rosemary Gallick, in addition to her full-time teaching classes, is the Gallery Director at the Manassas campus of Northern Virginia Community College.